Tell us about your organisation

NBBEN started in 1995 and is a locally based non profit organisation that operates solely to support local youth on the Northern Beaches. The government funding facilitates young people programs.

Our major initiative is "School, Community, Business Partnership Brokers". We act as the power broker to develop sustainable and cooperative partnerships within the community for young people in attaining a higher level of education. We aim to achieve 90% of young people staying in education and obtaining a Year 12 or equivalent.

Why did you decide to deliver these services?

We encompass a more whole of community approach to supporting young people focussing not only on education but the outside factors that affect young people during their teenage years.

How do your clients benefit from these services?

With our support and links to the local community, youth are able to determine clear pathway options from high school into life. We help them decide upon an industry. We help parents better communicate with their children. We link troubled young people to a youth support service.
